“The RodeXit seals are now
my first choice.”

On these pictures you can see how I managed to proof both the threshold gap of an old basement door and the lower part of the side-gap between the door leaf and the door jamb:

Because of the flexibility of the RodeXit seal I could – as you can see on the second picture – bend a one-foot piece round the edge of the door jamb and fixate one part of seal to the door jamb and another part to the wall. That effectively closed the gap. I couldn't have done that with an ordinary door sweep.

The versatility of the RodeXit seals is a huge advantage. The RodeXit seals are now my first choice.
