

www.rodexit.com

Privacy Policy

If you submit orders for our products, request samples or subscribe for newsletters we will only store the information we need for shipping and invoicing goods or samples and for distributing newsletters. Goods and samples may be delivered by a local authorized distributor. If so, the local distributor will only get the information required for delivering the goods or samples. The information is used for the said purposes and in said ways only. It is never sold to third parties. If you want to unsubscribe from our newsletters, please send us an email.

If you have any questions about privacy or security, feel free to contact us.